

The Progress, the Pleasure, the hedonism and especially the young people

The progress of this century, that God has allowed, has granted the distance of the man from God. God in his goodness has wanted once more to give, to give to his sons, but they really for this progress, for this comfort that they have reached, they have estranged from God. They would have must to enjoy of every material benefit, thanking their own God for what granted them, they are become full of haughtiness, convinced that their building and inventing what God has enabled them. How much pride in every man for what are the discoveries and every thing that it comes new handy. How the Heart of God it is sad, when the man has these convictions, when instead of becoming convinced that everything is in power of God, believing that everything is in his power.

How much arrogance in these thoughts, in these minds that God has created to his image and similarity, while the man, its only worry is that to become wealthy and to draw always great profit from every thing that is invented. It seems that everything is done only for the man, while all these things should give glory to God. Then here that your young people not brought to the sacrifice, are annoyed always, dissatisfied. To them nothing is forbidden, they can act as they want, the main thing is that they seem happy.

The hedonism is mostly what it counts for them. They are god of themselves and they criticize God, since they would want Him as they want. Don't think that are them the cause of their uneasiness, but that it derive from the teachings of today's man. The young people in their boredom, are sad more and more, and the heart instead of turning to the good goes to also find every perverse pleasure, to make to pass the boredom that is translated then in the most ugliest immorality. You must begin you to make understand to these young people that without applying the holy Laws of God nothing can be built, nothing can be constructive.

For which if the things are not right and I don't know how to sacrifice me and my wife or my husband don't even know it to do, it is better certainly, very better to look for another husband or another wife that can do me happy, but I will be never it, because I will never know how to sacrifice me and I will never believe that to sacrifice is a necessity, because nobody has ever taught me it. If instead these young people turned to God, He would help them and He would know how to reveal them to themselves. Give to them the example, only so you can conquer their heart. Pray, pray, pray, also for them, only the prayer and the example can recover their hearts. Yours be not only words, but be concrete facts, facts of example.
